

All About Jesus - Revival Seminars

Questions & Answers

1. Who is the target audience?

Seventh-day Adventist church members –though all presentations would be perfectly suited to non-member guests as well.

2. How many presentations are included in the seminar?

We make 13 presentations. A 6:30 p.m. starting time for all evening meetings seems to be the most user-friendly for families with children . Our first meeting is on a Friday evening. Except for Saturdays, presentations are given every evening (including Sunday) of the following week. On both Saturdays, we make 3 presentations. After several years of doing this, we have found one during Sabbath school, one during church, and one after a pot luck, to be easiest on attendees.

3. Does the host church need to provide accommodations or meals?

For locations that are within a reasonable driving distance, the Venden's will provide their own meals and stay in their 5th wheel at a nearby campground, RV park, or suitable location. More distant locations may need to provide accommodations and meals.

4. Are there any expenses for the church?

The host church or organization will be responsible for the Venden's driving travel expenses, RV parking, and for the collection of one free-will offering at the end of the seminar (to be sent to North Pacific Union Conference). More distant locations will also be responsible for airfare, a vehicle for transportation, accommodations and meals.

5. How can we arrange for a revival seminar?

Contact Lee Venden:

mail: 1422 Pearl St., Walla Walla, WA 99362

6. Available dates

We are actually booked several years in advance. We file requests in the order in which they are received and communicate with the requesting church when we begin working on the next calendar.

There are three ways in which a church can host our revival seminar.

A) The Venden's present live.

B) A second way is to use the DVD of the seminar as recorded at Pioneer Memorial Church in Berrien Springs, along with resources we can make available to make it more personal. Many churches have tried this approach and reported excellent attendance throughout the entire series, as well as significant results following the presentations. Learn more by checking out menu item 8 at the following link:

C) A third way is to download our complete resource package and then adapt the material to make the presentations yourself. So far, more than 170 presenters have done this. This free resource includes the actual sermon notes, illustrations, and PowerPoint files used in the All About Jesus Revival Seminar. The Note and PowerPoint files are editable documents. The intent is for the seminar structure and sequencing to remain the same, while each presenter replaces many or most of the stories and illustrations with ones of their own –so as to personalize the sermons and make them "theirs". The sermon outlines are in three formats: WordPerfect, Microsoft Word, and PDF. To make use of these resources, please email your request to leevenden@gmail.com.
